About the App

This unique and interactive educational app allows healthcare professionals to apply their auscultation skills against a library of clinical scenarios... All accessible from the palm of your hand. Developed locally, the 3M Littmann team worked with key opinion leaders and customers across the country to develop a modern tool which would enhance overall auscultation skills. The result is a premium mobile app, which allows stethoscope owners to:

- [Listen to real heart and lung sounds
- [Test knowledge against patient histories based on real patient assessments
- [Learn and track progress against best practice

The basic version of the app is free to download using Apple or Android devices. This allows access to a limited number of sounds, one sample test and one patient assessment module.

The premium version of the app can be unlocked by either:

- [Entering a free voucher code or qualifying serial number
- [InApp purchase of €39.99 / £29.99

The premium version of the app allows access to all sounds, patient assessments and educational content.
